

C&Y Study Grants - Guidelines for applicants

These guidelines pertain to any candidates attending a course within the Pasteur Network.

The grant is €1200 monthly pro-rata for the period covering the course and is meant to support part of the onsite expenses of the student (accommodation, food and transport). Additionally, the program also covers the registration fee of the student.

The Program for Promotions unit (P4P) at Institut Pasteur manages the payment of the grant.

Eligibility Criteria

- Must be a Member of the Pasteur Network (except Institut Pasteur Paris)
- Must be accepted to a course organized by any member of the Pasteur Network (outside of their Institute)
- Must have scientific status: Master 2, PhD, Technician, Engineer or Full researcher
- Applications must be supported by the director of the Sending Institutions*

For applications requiring a Director's letter from Fiocruz and IP Paris, the Head of the Department can be used instead.*

Evaluation Criteria

- Relevance of the course for the candidate's profile and their institutes, in terms of skills transfer
- Motivation of the candidate
- Support from the candidate's institute

Process:

The call is open all-year long and the deadline for submitting a funding application is the same as the course's application:

1. Online application by the candidate
2. Eligibility check by the CY Study program manager
3. Review of each application by the Selection Committee and final decisions.
4. Notification to the candidates by the CY Study program manager.
5. Accepted candidate must start their VISA application as soon as they receive an acceptance to the program
6. Students will provide an annual report to the CY Study program manager.
