

Pasteur Network and Calmette & Yersin PhD Grants

2025 Call for Applications

The Pasteur Network, comprising over 30 institutes, plays a crucial role in tackling global health challenges. Its distinctive strength lies in the diversity and extensive geographic reach, spanning 25 countries across 5 continents. This broad presence taps into a diverse scientific community, fostering a wealth of knowledge and expertise. Recognized as a WHO non-state actor, the Pasteur Network is frequently embedded into local Ministries of Health. It sustains a global infrastructure encompassing 50+ national and regional reference laboratories and 17 WHO Collaborating Centers.

To provide unique opportunities to talented young scientists, the Institut Pasteur through the Calmette and Yersin PhD Grants, is launching the 2025 doctoral grants call for application, offering two new doctoral positions within the Pasteur Network.

- The Calmette & Yersin program will support 2 new doctoral positions.

In collaboration with their future thesis supervisor, candidates must propose an innovative research project on a collaborative program with an Institut Pasteur research unit, in line with Institut Pasteur's strategic plan.

Applications must be written in English or in French and submitted online no later than 1st of May 2025 (13:00 pm Paris Time). Incomplete or paper-based applications will not be considered.

Applications must be completed through the Pasteur Network Applications Portal.

Carefully review the grant guidelines provided for this call. Pay also close attention to eligibility criteria, application deadlines, and any specific requirements or restrictions.